OH! SO LAZY

"What's that hound howling for?"

"Oh, just lazy!"

"Nonsense! A dog doesn't yell like that for laziness."

"This one does. You see, he's sittin' on a thistle an' it hurts him, but he's too lazy to move offen it!"

WHAT HE COULD DO.

THE wanderer had returned after an absence of twenty years.

"Dad," he joyously exclaimed, "I have come back with money to burn, and I'm going to spend it in chunks right here. The first thing to be done is to lift that mortgage from the farm."

"You let that mortgage alone!" angrily ordered the father. "If I didn't hev suthin' to make me hump myself I couldn't sleep nights."

"Then I'll rebuild this old ramshackle place," went on the son, enthusiastically. "Why, I'll make it the finest residence in the country."

"Don't you touch a stick of this homestead, boy!" and the old man scowled. "It was good enough for my dad, and it's good enough for me."

"But, look here, dad, I'm rich, and I want to do something handsome for you. Let me put $5,000 worth of live stock on the farm, won't you?"

"Tarnashun, no! It's all I kin do now to milk five cows and look after the chickens. Don't you go upsettin' things here."

"But can't I do something for you, dad?"

"Nidhing, son."

"Can't I build a new barn?"

"The barn's all right."

"But—but—"

"Wal-al, boy," broke in the old man, "if you're bound and determined to spend your wealth, I s'pose I'll hev to give in, seein' you've been away from us so long."

"Good, dad! What shall it be?"

"Fust time you go to town you might bring me a new 'corncob pipe."

IT MAY.

A boy's appearance of meekness may cover a lot of mischief.

Aviator—Well, for goodness' sake!

Woman—Help! Help! Save me! I was standing over a radiator and my pannier skirt became inflated with hot air, and—and here I am!

THE SURPRISED PARROT and the Lightning Bug.

TURNING THE TABLES.

LITTLE EVA MAY was only a baby girl, but she jibbed when bedtime came round, as children will. Finally, father offered to lie on the bed till she fell asleep, and carried her off, greatly to mother's delight.

The minutes passed—ten, fifteen, twenty—and at the end of half an hour mother began to wonder what had happened to father. She continued with her sewing, but in a few moments the silence was broken by the pit-a-pat of naked feet.

Nearer came the steps, and an instant later Eva May stood in the doorway, finger raised for silence.

"Hush, hush, mummy!" she said. "I've got daddy off to sleep at last!"

THE WOMAN'S FAULT.

Finnigan—Only single men need apply, eh? Ye see, Della, there's another foine job ye've cost me!

WRETCH.

"Why are you so bitter against Uncle Nebuchadnezzar?"

"He lost his money shortly after we named the baby for him."

1. Parrot—Aha! Something to eat!

ALL SHE FEARED.

He—We're coming to a tunnel. Are you afraid?

She—Not if you take that cigar out of your mouth!

2. Wow! I'm on fire!

SAVED HIMSELF.

"MAMMA," said Johnny, "if you will let me go visiting with you just this one time I won't ask for anything to eat."

"All right," said the mother. "Get your hat."

Johnny, perched on the edge of a big chair, became restless as savory odors came from the region of the kitchen. At last he blurted out: "There's lots of cake and pie in this house."

The admonishing face of his mother recalled his promise and he added:

"But what's that to me?"

3. Polly wants a drink of cold water!

DIFFERENT.

"He's the most pesterous little pup in town, sir!" exclaimed the angry neighbor; "and I'll take a stick to him the next time he comes over here and tramples my flower-beds, and"—

"You dare to so much as shake your little finger at that dog of mine and I'll knock your head off!" shouted the other man.

"Who said anything about your dog? I mean that youngest boy of yours."

"Oh, well, that's different. I'll give him a talking to, and whip him if he bothers you any more."

THE IDIOT.

Irate Parent—Am I to understand there is some idiotic affair between you and that impetuous young ass, Lord Billaris?

Fair Daughter (very sweetly)—Only you, papa.

HOW SHE REASONED IT OUT

He—Hurry! We'll never catch that train now, anyway!

She—Then if we'll never catch it, what's the use of hurrying?

WONDERFUL!

MORE than five thousand elephants a year go to make your piano keys," remarked the student boarder who had been reading the scientific notes in a patent medicine almanac. "Ain't it wonderful," exclaimed the landlady, "what some animals can be trained to do?"

HOW CLEVER!

VANCE—I think Ferdie ranks with Edison as an inventor and benefactor of man. Luella—What did he invent?

Vance—He invented a device to prevent cigarette papers from blowing away in a strong breeze.

LIAR!

"I am beginning to think, dear, that my husband is a big fibber."

"Why, darling?"

"Why, he threatens nearly every week that if I keep on as I am doing he'll blow his brains out, but he never does."

OF COURSE.

Irene (aged four)—Mamma, why do people have noses?

Mother—Common people, my dear, have noses that they may sneeze and smell, but high-born people like us have noses that they may express their contempt for common people.

PROOF.

"You don't scold your husband when he has been out all night, do you?"

"No; but how do you know?"

"He told my husband you made the best ice water he ever tasted."

ANOTHER CASE OF THE UNEMPLOYED.

JOHN CALLAHAN

Sea Serpent—No use applying here for a job this summer. With such competition as that I wouldn't have a look-in!

THE ADVENTURES OF PETEY PUPP—NO. 2.

PETEY GOES DOWN THE ROAD TO THE CITY OF BIG THINGS AND GETS SOME OF THE CONCEIT SCRATCHED OUT OF HIM.

HE KNEW.

Examiner—Now, suppose you found a man on the street so intoxicated he couldn't stand up, how would you treat him?

New Cop—I wouldn't treat him at all. I'd think he had enough, and tell him to go home and sleep it off!

And now behold young Petey Pupp,
Who left his home last week
To go away to other lands
His fortune for to seek.
He met some kittens down the road
And tried to scare them sick,
But suddenly their ma appeared
And went for Petey quick!
In vain he tried to run away,
She scratched his little nose
Until his face was full of pain,
His spirits full of woes.
No more he'll try to be so fresh,
Nor think he owns the street;
He's learned that lesson, anyway,
He's lost his great conceit!

THESE CARPING OUTSIDERS.

SIMPSON—Well, Muggins, how's business?
Muggins (our artist)—Oh, ripping! Got a commission this morning from a clergyman.
Simpson (with that pleasant way of his)—Well, my boy, you're the very man for the job. They don't speak now.

HOME MELODRAMA.

"The cards are marked!" said the man.
The woman cowered.
"The cards are marked!" he repeated.
There was no tragedy, however. Seems the baby had gotten hold of a lead pencil and marked up the euchre deck

OBLIGING.

"Confound it, sir! I've just been stung by one of your darned bees! I demand reparation!"

"Certainly, sir. You just show me which bee it was and I'll punish the horrid thing severely!"

SHE WAS AFFECTED DEEPLY.

Husband—I am ruined and must fly. I have committed forgery, but I did it all for you. The crime is on your head.

Wife—Is the crime on straight?

SHE WOULDN'T STAND FOR THAT.

He—Now that we are engaged, dear, tell me how old are you really?

Echo from Tennis Court—Forty, love!

She—That's not so! I'm only thirty-eight!

THE DEMAND.

"THE man who invented the pay-as-you-enter street car system was a great genius."

"Fudge! He was only half a genius."

"What makes you say that?"

"He didn't begin it by inventing the come-when-you-want-'em car system."

PLACED HIM.

"WHO is that man at the next table with that downcast, sad, resigned expression?" asked the guest at the club.

"I don't recall his name," replied the host, "but he is either a Republican or married to a suffragette; one can hardly tell them apart nowadays."

SONG TITLE.

"He Was Waiting by the Deep Blue Sea."

REBUKED.

Magistrate—What is the charge against this old man?

Officer—Stealing some brimstone, Your Honor. He was caught in the act.

Magistrate (to prisoner)—My aged friend, couldn't you have waited a few years longer?

NICE OF HIM.

"Did the Gildays have much trouble in arranging their separation?"

"No. A least, not until they reached the child. They have but one child, you know."

"How about the dogs?"

"That was easy. They had two dogs."

"I see. Well, what did they do?"

"Why, Gilday suddenly developed a streak of generosity. He took the child and let his wife have both dogs."

HE WAS DOING HIS LEVEL BEST.

The Man in the Tree—Run! Run, or he'll get you. Oh, why don't you run?
The Fat Man—Run! Hang it! Do you think I'm trying to throw the race?

YES, WHERE?

"When I marry," said the girl, "I am not going to marry a man who drinks, smokes, plays cards, or who belongs to a club. Still, I want him to have a good time."

"Where?" he asked.

ITS DRAW BACKS.

She—Why don't you dance; don't you like it?"

He—Oh, yes, I like it all right, but the music always seems to put me out, and the girl goes in my way.

DIFFERENCE.

She: "The mere thought of the furs which you have promised makes me feel warm."

He: "And the mere thought of their cost makes cold shivers run down my back."

UNIQUE.

"His wife is a remarkable woman."

"How so?"

"She can look stylish in bonnets he likes."

WAS SHE DISAPPOINTED?

Fair Lady—Did you smile at me, sir?
The Man—No, miss; it was only a twinge of neuralgia.

GETTING ON.

Paterfamilias: "I fancy that young man is making great progress."

Materfamilias: "What makes you think so?"

Paterfamilias: "He wanted to offer me a cigar last night when he was going away, but found that all those in his vest pocket were broken."

MA WAS SO CAREFUL ABOUT THE HOUSE!

"Oh, John, I do wish you'd take Willie out in the woodshed when you punish him! You're getting the room all full of dust!"

A "RAW" DEAL.

Little Willie had worn pajamas for two years. While visiting an aunt he discovered that his night-clothes had been forgotten. When Willie saw the nightgown donated by a girl cousin he protested vigorously, winding up with:

"An' I won't wear no night-gown ever, ever! Not even if I have to go to bed raw."

WHO GETS THE BOLOGNA ?

FIGURE
IT OUT
IF YOU CAN.

Of course the dog has the bologna sausages in the puzzle picture. The question is, does he get a chance to eat them before the butcher catches him?

The dog stole the sausages from the butcher shop and ran as hard as he could. Four minutes later the butcher missed the sausages and started in pursuit. The butcher was mad clean through, as the picture suggests.

At the rate the dog was running he would have reached a hole in a board fence in exactly twelve and one-half minutes from the time he darted out of the butcher shop. If he got to the hole in the fence ahead of the butcher he knew he could dart through and escape.

But the butcher was running one-third faster than the dog. So, who got the sausage—the butcher or the dog? Figure it out and see.

WHOSE PHOTO WAS IT?
 "I HAVE just heard a good puzzle," said a man the other day. "A man looking at a photograph says: 'Sisters and brothers have I none, yet that man's father is my father's son.' What relation is the man to the man in the photograph?"

"Dad!" chimed in one of his hearers. "That's as old as the hills. The man was looking at a photograph of his son."

"Nonsense!" cried somebody else. "The man must have been looking at a photograph of himself."

Which solution is the correct one?

HOW DID HE GET OUT?

A PRISONER placed in the cell marked "A" is promised his freedom on condition that he finds his way out of the exit at "B" after passing through all the cells, entering each of them once only.

The diagram shows the arrange ment of the cells and the doorway between them. Start at "A" and find a way to reach "B." You must not pass through any cell more than once, and you must not skip any.

HOW DO THEY DIVIDE THE MAPLE SYRUP?

THESE three farmers have been making maple syrup, and they have twenty-four quarts of it which they are going to divide equally. That's eight quarts for each of them. The only measures they have are three buckets, which will hold five quarts, eleven quarts and thirteen quarts. How do they divide the twenty-four quarts into three equal shares?

This makes a very interesting little arithmetical puzzle. Can you solve it?

HOW MANY MEN IN THE MOON?

THERE is only one man in the moon, you will say, and in proof you can point to the accompanying picture of the moon showing the one man's handsome face.

With two strokes of your pencil you can show that there are three men in the moon; the one you see here and two others. If you study the moon picture carefully for a minute or so you may be able to add the two necessary pencil strokes to bring out the other two faces. Look for the solution in next week's FUN.

WATCH THE CAT JUMP!

A CAT sitting in a room is one hundred feet from the nearest door. At one bound the animal jumps 50 feet toward the door, at the next jump 25 feet, then 12 1/2 feet and so on. Each jump is always half the length of the preceding one.

At each jump the cat makes some progress toward the door. In how many jumps will the cat reach the door?

The answer is "Never." Can you explain why?

SOLUTIONS TO LAST WEEK'S FUN PUZZLES

THE diagram on the right furnishes the solution to the puzzle of the thirty-one squares published last week. The two oblongs are applied to the two concentric squares in such a way that it is possible to produce thirty-one perfect squares, namely, seventeen small ones, one equal to twenty-five of these, five equal to nine and eight equal to four. Can you count them?

The sea serpent with a head thirty feet long and a tail as long as its head and half as long as its body, must have been 120 feet long.

The solution to the baseball puzzle will be found on page 15, opposite. The solution is almost as much of a puzzle as the puzzle itself.

Herewith is shown the solution to the "Spring" word square.

S	P	R	I	N	G

The "Spring" Word Square.

A RIBBON PUZZLE.

THE puzzle is to remove the ribbon B from the ribbon A without cutting either, tearing the card or removing the buttons from the ends of B. You can construct this puzzle in a very few minutes with a card and two short pieces of ribbon or shoestring. Then invite one of your friends to solve it.

The solution is simple. Merely bend the card and pull the loop A through the hole in the card through which B passes. B may now be removed.

The slots C and D are simply "to make it funny," and have no other bearing on the puzzle.

"Has any boy been kind to the dumb animals to-day?"

"Yes, grandma. I let your canary out of the cage, and when my cat caught it I set Towser on her."

Thirty-One Squares Here.

To change "army" into "navy" in eight moves, changing one letter each time and preserving their sequence the following moves must be made: ARMY, arms, aims, dims, dams, dame, name, nave, NAVY.

To draw the circle and line in one continuous line you must begin at the end of the line, of course, and proceed as far as the rim of the circle. Then make half the circle, continue the straight line up through the circle to where the first part of the line stopped. Then complete the other half of the circle and the rest is easy.

The answer to to-day's puzzles will be given in next week's FUN.

THE HIDDEN FRUIT.

THE names of ten fruits are concealed in the following lines. Can you discover them? Go range through every clime, where'er

The patriot muse appears;
He deeds of valor antedates,
His ban an army fears.

By midnight lamp each poet soul
Is plumed for flight sublime;
Pale monarch moon and shining stars

Witness his glowing rhyme!

Incited by the muse man goes
To grapple with his wrongs;
The poet cares not who makes laws,

If he may make the songs.

SLIDE THE TOP HALF TO THE LEFT AND THE NINTH MAN APPEARS

COUNT THEM NOW THERE ARE NINE

HEREWITH is shown the solution to the baseball puzzle published last week. The upper picture shows the puzzle picture in its original form, with only eight members of the team in line. The problem was to cut the picture into two pieces with one straight cut and rearrange the two pieces in such a way that the missing ninth man would make his appearance. The dotted line shows where the cut should have been made.

The lower picture gives the solution. There are now nine men. Count them. Nine heads, nine bodies, nine pairs of legs.

Where does the ninth man come from? Can you explain it?

PATCHED UP.
She (tearfully)—

Henry, our engagement is at an end, and I wish to return to you everything you have ever given me.

He (cheerily)—
Thanks, Blanche! You may begin at once with the kisses!

They are married now.

Carry a Cowboy Gun and Holster.

A new Watch Fob skin, and the exclusive fob has ever been offered in this line.
Exact miniature of the cowboy's equipment, reminiscent of the woolly days of the great West.
Holster of genuine leather and taffeta—polished nickel handle, with metal gun slipped inside, ready to be pulled.
Niftiest, catclasp, and most noticeable with fob in the world. Makes a his swiftness; attracts attention because it carries an air of Western grandeur.

A NOVELTY
Appreciated by young and old of both sexes.

FUN

THE TALE OF O'FARRELL, THE BEES AND THE BARREL

1—Oh, sad the fate of B. O'Farrell!
A bad boy filches his apparel!

2—But never mind!" says B. O'Farrell,
"I'll clothe myself in this here barrel!"

3—He does so, but he never sees
At first the clamorous honey bees.

4—"Great Scott! I'm stung!" cries B. O'Farrell!
For Oh, it was a sugar barrel!

5—To 'scape the lancens from the hives,
Again into the pool he dives!

6—And now all night, w thout apparel,
Waiting for help is B. O'Farrell!
